

Shrewdest comment at the Third District Stock Show association banquet last night was when Dr. Lewis Webster Jones, president of the University of Arkansas, said:

"I think maybe one way to convert some farmers to dairying would be for a scientist to invent a cow that had to milked only once a week."

It used to be that Illinois farmers would get their grain crops laid by, and Arkansas planters would wind up their cotton picking — and the families of both would virtually abandon the farm to go jaunting, during the cropless winter months.

I am speaking of how it was more than 30 years ago. But the Illinois picture has long since changed. Today the major farm stake in Illinois is swine and other livestock — things that have to be fed and tended to the year 'round.

And the changing farm picture elsewhere suggests that it is inescapable in Arkansas now. Cotton used to do good on a six-months haul. But the real market for cotton is declining. Prices would long ago have collapsed except for federal supports. And deadlines are being established both on how much money the federal government will appropriate for this purpose and on how much cotton can actually be planted.

In last night's talk Dr. Jones pointed out that our state's mild climate makes housing facilities for livestock inexpensive, and we have plenty of unused acreage which can be developed as cheap pasturage. But the fact remains that caring for animals is a year-round job.

It may be more work, but it's also more dependable pay.

There are substitutes for meat or milk — and in a land of every-increasing population that's a safe direction to be driving in... out of the storied land of corn and cotton.

Airline Pilot Sees Saucer Over Arkansas

Little Rock, March 21 — (P) — An airplane pilot reported sighting a "flying saucer" over Arkansas last night.

Capt. Jack Adams, pilot of a Chicago and Southern Airlines flight from Memphis to Houston, said he sighted the object near Stuttgart. He reported that it was circular and had conventional aircraft running lights.

He said that he was flying about 2,000 feet and the object passed in front of him at about 3,000 feet, flying in a northerly direction and at tremendous speed.

After landing in Shreveport, La., Co-pilot G. W. Anderson, 30, said the object definitely was not a planet or other celestial body, but "strictly an airborne object of some description."

Anderson said that he and Adams, who was flown with CS for seven years, are used to seeing unusual celestial sights and jet planes and that the object they saw tonight was none of those.

Upon sighting it Anderson said the airplane's landing lights were blinked on and off to signal the other craft, but got no response. Instead, he said, the object crossed the path of the DC-3 and sped out of sight with terrific speed.

Anderson, a native of Gate City, Va., has been a C&S pilot for five years.

Hopeful Signs to Chrysler Strike End

Detroit, March 21 — (A) — The hopeful signs — if only signs — persisted today at negotiations in the 56th day of the Chrysler strike.

Neither side was declaring itself. However, the atmosphere seemed less forbidding.

More than 140,000 auto plant workers have been idle in Chrysler's pension dispute with the CIO United Auto Workers.

All of Chrysler's own 89,000 men haven't worked since the strike began Jan. 25.

Since the weekend the negotiations have been streamlined to five men for each side. Talks were said to be concentrated on pensions alone without any side issues.

Chrysler dealers got into the act yesterday, indicating impatience over the tieup.

Dick Price, a Dallas, Tex., dealer, ran an advertisement inviting dealers to organize in protection of their interests. Price had a full-page ad in the trade paper Automotive News.

Price deplored the strike as a "struggle for power by both sides" and said the Chrysler dealers and their employees were a "forgotten phase."

"It appears that it is high time," he said, "for the dealers to organize and to demand that our investments and the interests of our employees be recognized."

Boneta Cash sold the most tickets. The money netted will be used to purchase library books.

Local Farmers to Discuss 'Idle Acres'

"Putting Every Acre to Work" is the idea to be considered at a meeting this Thursday at 10 o'clock in the Hempstead county Courtroom where the organization of an agricultural development program for Hempstead county will get underway.

The Hempstead county agricultural development program follows the setting up of an Arkansas organization to make use of more than 1,600,000 acres diverted from cotton and rice and idle crop acres. In February Governor Sid McMath and Dr. Lewis W. Jones, president of the University of Arkansas called a meeting of representatives of all farm organizations and agricultural agencies that are working with farmers. The plan of action was unanimously approved.

Farms with idle acres are not fully productive. Many farms will desire to develop pasture and feed crops for livestock. Farm land is available for use in expanding production of crops and livestock above that of 1949. This is the season for immediate action to prevent lowering of Hempstead county incomes.

Invitations to Thursday's organization meeting have been extended to County Agricultural Planning committee members, farm organization officers, agricultural agency representatives, bankers, editors, and others interested in the welfare of agriculture in Hempstead county. All groups are invited and urged to have representatives at the Hempstead county meeting.

The primary functions of this group will be to get out immediate suggestions for proper land use and work out ways and means of getting this information to the largest possible number of farmers.

'Horsemeat' Ring Said to Be Broken

Chicago, March 21 — (UP) — The government cracked down today on a ring suspected of selling horsemeat as high grade beef tenderloins over wide sections of the nation.

City, state and federal authorities cooperated in a full-scale investigation which agents expected a reach into many of the big packing centers of the midwest and southwest.

About 12,000 pounds of mislabeled horsemeat was seized in a southside warehouse here yesterday.

Agents said two men were known to have acted as leaders of the alleged ring but would not disclose their names. No arrests had been made as yet, it was emphasized.

Officials said the horsemeat was shipped from Kansas City, Mo., labeled properly as "horsemeat tenderloins" but at South Bend, Ind., the meat underwent processing to remove the label. Then the meat was brought here labeled simply as "tenderloins" and the stamp as "beef tenderloins" was added in the warehouse where the meat was found.

The meat, officials said, was owned by a Minnesota man.

Details of the case were disclosed by government meat inspection in Chicago, and Dr. Herman Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health.

Amphibian tanks, then known as "alligator tanks," were used by U. S. Marines back in 1924.

Committee Sets Elections for July 25, Aug. 8

The Democratic Central committee, headed by Chairman W. S. Atkins, met this morning at Hope City Hall and set the preferential primary election for July 25 and the runoff primary August 8, two weeks later.

The group also fixed the filing deadline for Wednesday noon, April 28.

A resolution was passed fixing the fees for judges and clerks at $4 for each election. The committee went along with an act of the legislature which fixed $4 fees on general elections.

Fees for the following offices were set: County Judge, Circuit Clerk, County Treasurer, County Clerk, Tax Assessor, $400 each; Representatives $50; Senators (fixed by the legislature) $20; Coroner $50; Surveyor $25; Constables $10; Justice of Peace $1 and Aldermen $20.

The last legislature combined city, county and state elections but the central committee was undecided on the effective date. In case the new law applies to the coming election the group set the following fees on city offices: Mayor $150; City Attorney $50; City Treasurer $50 and City Clerk $50.

FBI Probing Lewis' Signal System

Washington, March 21 — (UP) — The FBI today was investigating charges that John L. Lewis used a secret set of signal to keep miners out of the pits during the recent coal strike.

Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morison said he ordered the FBI inquiry last Saturday after reading about the charges against Lewis by Lloyd M. Siderer, ousted president of a United Mine Workers local in Canton, Ill.

"I've told the FBI to make a thorough investigation of everything that has come up in the case," Morison said. "I want to know everything about it. We will leave no stone unturned."

Siderer accused Lewis of using intricate signals to countermand the two back-to-work orders he issued when Federal Judge Richmond B. Keach told him to get the mines back in production.

He said that after Lewis issued his order, Bernard J. Beasley, a UMW district board member telephoned him and said, "the whistle blew one." Beasley explained, he said, that this meant the miners were to stay out of the pits.

If Lewis actually had wanted the miners to return to work, Siderer said, the signal would have been: "The whistle blew three."

Beasley has denied Siderer's statement. Morison said he has had no information other than the data contained in the newspaper stories of Siderer's charge.

Morison, head of the justice department's civil division, was the government's chief attorney in its attempt to persuade Keach that the UMW was in contempt of court for failing to obey his order.

Keach acquitted the union of both civil and criminal contempt. He said the government failed to prove the UMW had deliberately defied his temporary restraining order.

Two Accidental Deaths Monday in Arkansas

"I had to do it because of my kids," she said.

She testified that the shooting climaxed a year of abusive treatment by her husband.

Testimony in the case was completed yesterday.

Committee Approves a $29 Billion Spending Bill—No Deep Reduction

Top Russian Agent Named Says McCarthy

Washington, March 21 — (P) — Senator McCarthy said today he has named an agent in the espionage ring in this country.

The Wisconsin Republican made the statement to newsmen. Reports circulated meanwhile that the state department is urging President Truman to open FBI and all other government loyalty files to the senate committee looking into McCarthy's charges there are communists in the department.

The "top Russian agent" was described by McCarthy as Alger Hiss' one-time boss "in the espionage ring in the department."

Hiss, former state department official, has been convicted on a charge that he lied in denying he handed secret U. S. documents to a courier for Russia.

McCarthy's statement was prompted by another one made at a news conference late yesterday by Senator Tydings (D-Md.). Tydings is chairman of the senate foreign relations subcommittee which is looking into McCarthy's contentions that there are 57 card-carrying Communists in the state department.

"Up to the present time," Tydings declared, "neither Senator McCarthy nor anyone else has given us the name of a single person who is accused of being a Communist or a card-carrying Communist."

Since the inquiry started on March 8 McCarthy has publicly accused nine persons of being Communist or otherwise bad security risks. He has turned over 108 other names to the committee for study behind closed doors.

Tydings said McCarthy has not lodged definite charges against anyone on the list of 106.

Mr. Truman, who is vacationing in Florida, is faced with making a decision on whether to let senators on the inquiry committee examine the loyalty records of persons whom McCarthy has accused.

A particularly knotty problem for the President is whether the records of the FBI and the civil service loyalty review board should be made available — or just the state department loyalty records. He has refused in the past to let congressional committees at any such records.

Victim of Sex Fiend to Be Buried

Columbia, Mo., March 21 — (UP) — Pretty Janet Christman, who was raped and strangled by a sex fiend, will be buried today — her 14th birthday — in a shroud bought with money she earned as a baby sitter.

It was as a baby sitter that the young high school freshman met her violent death late Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Romach, who had hired Janet to sit with their three-year-old son while they played bridge with another family, found her battered body on their return early Sunday morning.

Their child was not harmed. Janet, a large girl for her age, apparently fought viciously with her assailant but was struck with a heavy instrument and garroted with an electric cord her killer ripped from the wall of a utility room.

Police Chief E. M. Pond said the Columbia city council had called a special meeting today to add five more men and an additional patrol car to his force.

A reward of more than $1,000 for capture of the sex fiend was collected to reach $2,000 today.

The Columbia Chamber of Commerce and the amount of $8,000 expected to reach $2,000 today. The entire eighth grade at Jefferson High school was dismissed to permit students to attend the funeral of their popular classmate.

Minor Accident

An accident yesterday at Third and Washington streets involving vehicles driven by M. L. Arterberry and Edward Jenkins resulted in minor damage, investigating city police said today.

By WILLIAM F. ARBQAS

Washington, March 20 — (P) — A $29,045,030,104 deficit-boosted government spending bill — representing a $200 cutout for every man, woman and child in the nation — was approved today by the house appropriations committee.

Grim reminder of the cost of war, more than half of its total is composed of items for national defense, including charges growing out of World War II. The bill carried $13,811,127,300 for the defense department, $5,801,782,785 for the veterans administration and $947,870 for the atomic energy commission.

There were no deep cuts in any major programs the average reduction under President Truman's requests being five per cent. But there is a move in the house to send the bill back to the committee for a further $1,000,000,000 cut or more.

Stated for house debate next week, the bill wraps into a single measure for the first time in modern history the appropriations for more than 40 federal agencies. Not included are foreign aid and military assistance funds and so-called permanent and indefinite appropriations, aggregating $11,592,751,053.

The bill's total is $1,587,000,504 less than the President requested and, if approved by congress, would result in an estimated federal deficit of $4,153,682,312 for the 1951 fiscal year, starting next July 1. The appropriations provided are for that year.

In actual cash, the bill appropriates $27,628,403,884, which is $1,355,377,504 less than the President requested and $332,014,180 less than was provided for comparable activities this year.

In addition, it provides authority for government agencies to enter into contracts totaling $1,778,628,500. This sum is $182,523,000 less than the President sought and $1,596,085,500 less than was provided this year. Future appropriations normally are necessary to finance these authorizations.

The appropriations committee pointed out that the cash cuts would mean a reduction of $978,489,060 in planned government spending in the fiscal year 1951.

The difference between the actual cut in appropriations and the estimated cut in spending is due to the fact that disbursements of many types of appropriations frequently are delayed beyond the end of the fiscal year, and some spending during a year comes from funds carried over from a previous year.

President Truman's budget estimates of expenditures in fiscal year 1951 were $42,438,757,406. The committee said its cuts will hold the planned spending to $41,450,268,346.

Republicans in the house are organizing a drive to make further cuts when the bill is ready for amendment. They say they want to reduce the government's planned spending to a figure within $1,000,000,000 of the $37,305,586,034 in anticipated revenues next year.

The committee recommended budget cuts for almost every agency financed by the bill. Among the rare exceptions was the federal bureau of investigation which was allowed funds for 325 new agents and for a $4,000 a year raise for J. Edgar Hoover who now receives $100,000.

The defense department was cut $203,332,700 in cash. It asked for $13,028,675,000 cash and $1,085,785,000 in contract authority. For the present year it received $1,805,582,498 in cash and $2,698,301,000 in contract authority.

The veterans' administration was allotted $5,801,782,785, a cut of $205,832,205 from what it wanted and $587,960 less than it received this year. The bulk of this money is for veterans' pensions hospital facilities and benefits under the GI bill of rights.

The atomic energy commission was put down for $647,870,000 in cash and $500,150,000 in contract authority. It asked for $708,800,000 cash and $335,500,000 in contract authority. This year it received $2,930,769 in cash and $466,075,628 in contract authority.

Other highlights of the committee action: It recommended a new and tough anti-deficiency provision to prevent federal agencies from incurring unauthorized deficits or overexpending their allotments. Officials violating the provision could be jailed for two years and fined $5,000.

It approved funds for employment of 1,000 more tax enforcement agents, and for more anti-monopoly work.

Answer for Livestock Is Idle Acres

A great challenge confronts Arkansas this year in finding uses for a million idle acres, and the answer to that challenge is livestock, Dr. Lewis Webster Jones, president of the University of Arkansas, told a banquet meeting of the Third District Stock Show association in Hope last night.

The crowd, which packed the dining room of Hotel Barlow, was presided over by Bob Shivers, general manager of the Third District Stock Show.

Mayor Lyle Brown welcomed the visitors in behalf of the City of Hope, and Dr. Jones was introduced by Glenn Wallace, president of the Third District Stock Show association and himself a noted livestock breeder of near Nashville.

Dr. Jones said: "I am speaking by a million displaced acres of farmland — which means displaced persons, too. Altogether there are 8 million acres of upland and other marginal farms which are better suited to livestock than to row crops."

"Introducing livestock to these acres would mean much to the business economy of the people of Arkansas — perhaps 600 or 700 million more dollars a year. Arkansas is today importing from other states 10 million dollars worth of feed a year. We ought to produce this ourselves."

"Some of our people over in east Arkansas say their land is valuable to use for livestock. Agricultural committees don't know what to do with it. It is Big Mamma's milk to supply a growing Memphis. That milk comes from Illinois. It ought to be coming from Arkansas, just as the turkey in Arkansas has great advantage in Vermont. We don't want to provide the kind of livestock housing that is required in Vermont's rigorous winter climate. And Arkansas has abundant prairie. If its full potential is developed."

"I think maybe one way to convert some farmers to dairying would be for a scientist to invent a cow that had to be milked only once a week."

Dr. Jones told of Governor McMath's recent conference with agricultural agencies in the state to formulate both short-range and long-range programs to meet the idle-acreage problem. The university president said there was prize money in what was to be done — most of the prize thought a greater trend to stock offered the best promise for the agriculture future of our state.

But above all, Dr. Jones was closing the various agencies to try to work together on a general plan. And chamber of commerce and other town organizations would do well to follow with the general plan. To get something actually on paper."

The university head said to the Third District Stock Show as an inspirational plea, "helps improve the day-by-day record of this section and the state."

Stock Show Manager Shivers announced that the Girard Hand sale conducted yesterday at the fair set a record when 51 head of cattle were marketed for a price of $37,498, and one cow for the highest price ever paid in Arkansas — $4,000.

All of the 17 counties in the district were represented. The guests included Dr. Jones, J. Seymour, vocational agriculture chief, J. O. Fullerton, district extension service head, Mrs. F. Friend, district home demonstration supervisor, M. W. Munger, extension service livestock specialist, Ben. Clyde Byrd, Dr. Dorado, Dr. Henry Kronig, dean of the college of agriculture.

Pre-Easter Revival Is Underway

The announced "Pre-Easter, Youth Emphasis Revival" got under way with service Sunday. The Monday night service gave good impetus to the enthusiastic spirit of revival evident in Sunday's services. It was "Musical Monday" at the service last night. Evangelist Jay B. Oaks led the congregation in about ten minutes of chorus singing, interspersed with inspirational remarks. He then spoke on "The Nearness of Jesus" taking his scriptural injunction from John's account of the "Woman at the Well".

A special feature of the Tuesday night's service will be a "Minister's Trio". The "Volunteer Workers" are invited to meet in the Prayer Room at seven o'clock for further instructions and prayer. The regular service begins at 7:30 with a prelude of organ music by Mrs. S. Joseph Geno. Everyone is urged to attend this revival.

Against U. S. Shipment of Farm Surplus

Washington, March 21 —(AP)—Senator Connally (D-Texas) predicted today that congress will reject a move to substitute $1,000,000,000 worth of U. S. surplus farm products for cash in the European recovery program.

The house foreign affairs committee voted the shift from money to farm products yesterday in the face of strong administration protests.

Connally, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, told reporters the substitution move would fail as he called his committee into session to consider the aid program.

The economic cooperation administration has asked a $2,950,000,000 authorization plus the right to spend $150,000,000 which will be left over from the current year.

Senator Connally appeared confident his committee would approve the entire cash amount asked by the administration.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said he will ask for a roll-call vote on his amendment to trim $600,000,000 off the authorization.

The farm products for cash amendment in the house committee came from Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio).

Vorys said that in the past the secretary of agriculture has furnished only $115,000,000 of government surpluses out of a total ECA food program costing over $2,400,000,000.

"There is no excuse now for using new funds to buy more agricultural products for a government program, when we already own and have paid for this gigantic surplus," he said.

Chairman Kee (D-WVa.), who opposed Vorys' proposal, said in his opinion the bill "doesn't save anything."

In the first place, Kee contended, it puts an added burden on the farm price support program by taking a billion dollars worth of ECA purchasing power out of the open market. He said it also ties the hands of the ECA.

ECA officials are opposing the move, also. They argue it would support Communist claims that Europe is being used as a dumping ground for American surplus farm production and would hamper recovery efforts.

The ECA has earmarked about $100,000,000 for the purchase of surplus farm products.

Spring Gets a Chilly Reception

By The Associated Press
Spring got a wet, cool and windy reception in many parts of the nation today.

Snow fell over many parts of the central states when the spring season officially arrived last night at 11:36 p. m. (EST). A light band of snow extended from Kansas and Missouri northward to the Canadian border. A fresh fall measured up to six inches in eastern Nebraska.

Heavy winds kicked up dense clouds of dust yesterday across the Texas panhandle and the southern plains. Winds reached a velocity up to 54 miles an hour at Amarillo and dust stirred up by 49 mph winds threw a screen over Lubbock, Tex., that reduced visibility to one mile. Visibility in some areas was cut to three-quarters of a mile.

The winds were expected to diminish today except along the gulf coast, where small craft warnings have been hoisted from Brownsville to Morgan City, La.

No rain was in sight immediately for West Texas where dry cotton farms need rainfall badly.

$1,650,000,000 for farm commodities in the 1951 Marshall plan program. If the Vorys plan should be approved by congress, this would leave $650,000,000 for purchases in the open market.

However, an influential Republican who asked not to be quoted by name, said the GOP will be just as well satisfied if the secretary of state remains on the job.

"He will be our best issue in this year's campaign," this Republican told a reporter.

Wherry, the party's senate floor leader, said that Acheson said Algor Hiss, convicted former state department official, "have been

GOING PLACES

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The little wool dress that goes places this spring may travel with a matching coat or it may not need a companion at all. But whichever way it journeys, it will be distinguished by neat-as-a-pin tailoring and crisp-textured fabrics.

A blouse-topped dress joins up with a three-quarter length coat to make the ensemble at left, designed by Eisenberg. Navy wool for coat and skirt is given crispness by bold window-pane plaid silk in lining and blouse. Short sleeves turn up to show deep plaid cuffs.

Cry-Baby

Dear Miss Dix: I am 19 and just a big cry-baby. I have really nothing to cry about because I have the most loving and understanding of parents, an adorable boy friend, a nice home and many friends. But I cry about everything. I cry when I hear a person receive honor or praise I weep over the unhappy. I burst into tears when I enter a hospital or meet a train or when I hear the voice of someone who is calling long-distance on the telephone and, of course, I simply dissolve at all the touching scenes in the movies or at a play. How can I break myself of the habit?

LOUISE
Answer: The only way to cure yourself of being too emotional is just to use your will power and refuse to permit yourself the luxury of sopping over.

Was Effective Trick
For a long time women got their way by using hydraulic pressure on men. Whenever they wanted a thing they just sat down and cried for it until they got it. There seemed to be some peculiar quality in tears that melted down men's backbones and made them so mushy and soft that women could do with them as they pleased. And so tears became the great feminine graft.

But today tears have become taboo and it is almost as rare to see a woman weep as it is to see a man. Maybe it is because tears don't do make-up any good. Maybe it is because a woman who wept when she lost in a game would be despised as a bad sport. Maybe it is because men have found out that drying a woman's tears is the most expensive occupation they can ever engage in. But, however it is, women don't use their tear ducts as much as they used to do.

Perhaps it is because they have discovered that the modern man wants a girl to be always gay and cheerful and smiling and bright-eyed and has no time for the lachrymose maiden who always has troubles to tell and requires comforting. For men are

Representative Dies at Meeting of Committee

Washington, March 21 (AP).—Rep. Ralph Edwin Church (R-Ill), 66 years old, collapsed and died today at a congressional committee hearing.

He was pronounced dead by Rep. Miller of Nebraska, a physician.

The hearing was being held by the house committee on executive expenditures on proposed reorganizations in the national labor relations board.

Chairman Dawson (D-Ill) said Church was giving the group his views when he apparently suffered a heart attack.

Dawson said that in the midst of a sentence Church gasped for breath, then slumped in his chair.

Church, a lawyer whose home was Evanston, Ill., was elected to the house seven times to represent the 13th Illinois district.

Church was born on a farm near Catlin, Vermillion County, Ill. May 5, 1883. He was educated at the University of Michigan and received his law degree from Northwestern University in 1909.

Cry-Baby

Dear Miss Dix: I have a very small apartment and my young sister boards with me, as do my parents are dead. We are business girls. My sister has an abominable disposition and is very selfish, but I feel that I have to keep her with me as she does not make enough money to board in a good place and because I want to protect her as much as I can.

LOUISE
Now I am engaged to a man whom I love very dearly and I objects to the sacrifices I make for my sister and to her monoling my little apartment with her friends so that he and I have to go out in order to be alone together. We quarrel about this and things have reached a stage where it is about to break up our engagement. My sister knows this and does not try to help at all. I am married life with the man I love. I married her with my sister and I have her out on her own to get along as best she can? I am heart broken over the problem.

Answer: It seems to me that your selfish sister's neglect of the sacrifice of all you love to happiness. Evidently she is full of nothing but her own pleasure and convenience and she thinks that at your expense. You are the worthwhile member of the family and the one who deserves happiness.

Perhaps forcing her to depend on herself would be the means of her. It often is, and I have seen more than one spoiled girl who boy regenerated by going to live among strangers who literally made them behave themselves and accord others their rights.

Evidently your fiancé is jealous of your sister, and like lots of other selfish men, he is perfectly willing to sacrifice you to himself, but he objects to your being sacrificed to anyone else.

He really considered you at all he would understand your sense of responsibility to your little sister, and that no matter how badly she treats you, you feel that you cannot turn her out and that for herself in a world that is full of dangers for young girls.

And he would know that your little while she will marry and off herself, and that the problem is automatically ended.

Dear Miss Dix: When I am 25 and a married man of full hopelessly in love with the solution? The man has me that he cares for me, we both realize that marriage is impossible. A young man wants marry me. Shall I marry him or try to forget?

Answer: The only solution the problem, if them an doesn't want a divorce his wife, you to break up the affair, accept the inevitable. Believe me, this will make you a happier than will dragging out hopeless and compromising affair. Don't try to heal your heart by marrying the young man. That always seems to be such a cowardly and foolish thing to do, trying to save yourself at another's expense. (Release by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

"I tried to explain that they are emblematic figures. He wouldn't hear the out. He shouted: 'What difference does it make whether you call a naked woman Light or Hope or Virtue or Science or what not?'—She's still a naked husky."

"He was a simple fellow with his old-fashioned Philistine but I couldn't budge him. At last I told him that he was simply impoverishing Azalea in his spite at me, because she was going to marry me anyway. At that he simply exploded with rage. He ordered me out of the house. He grew so belligerent that I had to retreat because I couldn't resist him. The only thing I could do was to run away from him."

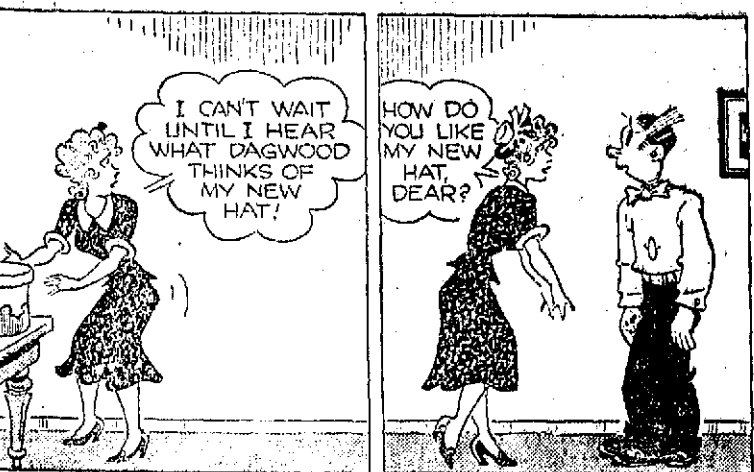

NEITHER the private detective Martin Queripel nor the lawyer Harley Kenyon interrupted Paul Moody's story as they listened in the dimly lit conference room of the county jail. Now Paul paused again to recall the words spoken between himself and Azalea Palmer's father on the day of the murder.

"When I saw that he had no feelings about wrecking my chances to get that big commission for the National Electric statue, I tried another appeal," the young sculptor continued at last.

"I begged him to consider his daughter's happiness. But that made him hotter yet. He growled, 'She's young. She'll get over the silly infatuation for you. She'll cry her head off the way she did when she was a little girl and I took matches and sharp knives away from her.'"

"He raged on at me, but he plainly loved her in his harsh way. He said: 'In years to come, she'll be mighty glad I didn't let her marry you, sir. You are an artist with an artist's morals. You surround yourself with nude models and—why, your highest ambition is to put into marble and bronze a lot of naked women—and men, too. Italian Reds Call Sudden Walkout

Milan, Italy, March 21 (AP)—Thousands of Communist-led workers called a sudden walkout today and blocked Milan's main square in a protest demonstration against a new government measure to keep order in Italy.

Union leaders in both Milan and Genoa were reported considering a general strike call as a further protest.

Crowds of workers—many carrying Red banners—poured into the Milan square at midday, snarling traffic and delaying street cars and buses.

Large forces of police were on guard but took no action to disperse the crowd, which thinned out after a speech in the main square by Communist Senator Giuseppe Abertoni.

Many workers returned to their factories but did not resume work. The only reported violence up to now was an attack by a group of demonstrators who roughed up Associated Press photographer James Pringle and seized his camera. Pringle took refuge in a private home.

Similar demonstrations took place in Bologna, Florence and Genoa.

Describe Events Leading to Murder

Iowa City, Iowa, March 21—(AP)—A beautiful University of Iowa coed died on the second floor of an old rooming house early last Dec. 11 while a group of students across the hall discussed "be-bop" music.

This was disclosed yesterday when residents of the "Empty Arms," men's rooming house near the campus, testified in the trial of Robert E. Bednasek, 24, a psychology student. He lived at the rooming house.

The state charges Bednasek strangled pretty Margaret Anne (Geo-Gee) Jackson, 20, also a psychology student, early that Sunday morning because he was afraid of losing her. They had once been "pinned" (campus term for "engaged").

The good-looking defendant and Miss Jackson had a private wine and lobster supper at the rooming house before attending a formal fraternity dance. They returned after midnight for a night-

Gubitchey Goes Home to Face 'Failure'

New York, March 21—(UP)—The 15-year spy sentence of Valentin A. Gubitchey, Russian diplomat, was suspended today on condition that he disappear behind the iron curtain and "never return any further statement."

The blond-headed, five-foot-two Russia turned his head and smiled. He then shrugged his shoulders and walked on.

Judge Ryan, who sentenced Gubitchey and Miss Coplon on March 3, asked Gubitchey whether he had any further statement.

Crommelin May Run for Senate

San Francisco, March 20—(UP)—Navy Capt. John G. Crommelin said today he is willing to run for United States senator from Alabama to help shape the nation's defense policies.

"I thought I could be of more service to my country in the navy," he said, "but if I am not going to be in the navy, then I feel that perhaps I could be of more service in congress."

Crommelin goes on furlough at half-pay next month for pursuing in his outspoken opposition to the general staff idea as set in defense unification.

Since then, he said he has received "numerous telephone calls and telegrams from various persons in Alabama," urging him to run this fall against incumbent Sen. Lister Hill, D., whose term expires Jan. 3, 1951. Lister has served in congress since 1923 and in the senate since 1938.

Navy sources in Washington were uncertain whether Crommelin would be allowed to run, since he is not on the navy retirement list. A federal law prohibits a person from holding two federal jobs at once.

Crommelin is a legal resident of Montgomery, Ala. His family has been prominent in the history of Alabama since 1820.

He said that many of his friends suggested he run for public office after his furlough becomes effective.

As he left the courtroom at 10:30 a.m., a reporter asked him if he had "one last word."

"Do you think you got a fair trial?"

Medical Group to Discuss Dr. Sanders

Manchester, N. H., March 21—(AP)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander has a new hurdle to clear before he can return to good standing in New Hampshire's medical profession.

Dr. Lloyd L. Wells, secretary of the Hillsboro County Medical society, disclosed last night that a charge had been filed with the organization against the young country doctor.

The state board of registration in medicine already has a hearing pending to determine Dr. Sander's right to continue the practice of medicine. The hearing will be held April 12.

The disclosure that a charge had been filed with the county society came a few hours after two Catholic hospitals announced Dr. Sander had been banned from practicing in the institutions.

The 41-year-old physician was acquitted March 9 of murdering the death of Mrs. Abbie C. Borrolo, 59, a cancer-ridden patient.

In announcing that the county society had been called upon to take action, Dr. Wells said:

"A charge has been made against Dr. Hermann N. Sander. The Hillsboro County Medical society's constitution and by-laws govern all procedures. No further official comment will be made until these procedures are completed."

The nature of the charge was not disclosed.

The county group's constitution provides that charges may be preferred "by reason of (1) criminal offense, (2) gross misconduct as a citizen or physician, or (3) violation of the society's by-laws."

Dr. Sander was not available for comment. Members of his legal staff had nothing to say.

Under the society's rules of procedure, the next step would be submission of the complaint to the group's board of censors.

The board of three doctors can recommend (1) Dr. Sander be reprimanded, (2) that he be exonerated of the charge, or (3) that he be expelled from the society.

Sino Reds Block Evacuation of Americans

Washington, March 20—(AP)—The state department said today the Chinese Communists have blocked a mass evacuation of Americans and other foreigners from China by a last minute refusal to let two landing craft reach Shanghai.

American representatives on the scene have been instructed to press for a reconsideration, an announcement said.

Meantime, the landing craft and the American President Liner General Gordon, to which the foreigners were to be ferried, have been ordered to remain at Hong Kong.

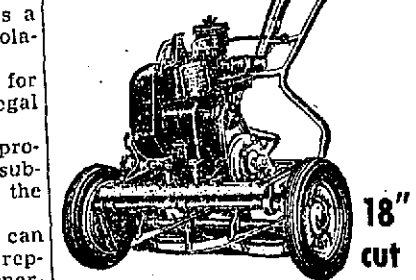

Nearly 2,000 foreigners including 310 Americans had planned to leave probably tonight in the first such general evacuation since last fall.

The United States ordered all remaining American diplomats and consuls out of the country two months ago after the Communist authorities at Peiping seized American consular property there.
